MARION WON THE GAME AND THEN ACTED THE PORK

True to prediction last night's contest with Coshocton was one of the fastest and most exciting struggles of the season, the locals winning out eight to five.

A crowd that packed the rink turned out to witness the game and was given plenty of opportunity to make some noise. It is doubtful if there has been any more enthusiastic rooting done at the rink this season.

No wonder it was a good game. There was a pig at stake. A real live porker, done to the queen's taste and with the necessary side dishes. A number of prominent business men offered the pig to the team that won the game. And some pretty strenuous appetites were developed during the forty five minutes of play. While it was an honor to win such a contest, it was no disgrace to lose, and the vanquished as well as the victors were in on the feed.

Marion started out well and shot the first goal after about two minutes of play. During the remainder of the first period neither side was able to score but some mighty pretty polo was played. Both sides exhibited a terrific offense and like-wise a mighty defense. The work of the goal tenders—Hickey and Graffam—in the period, was especially effective.

In the second round Coshocton with the bull dog spirit that generally characterized its play, tied the score and a minute later went into the lead. But Marion was working to win and soon overtook the visitors and two more goals in rapid succession and gave them a safe lead.

In the last half E. Devlin was struck over the eye and had to retire from the game. Harold was taken off the visiting team and the contest was finished with four men on each side. With but eight men on the floor the game was faster than ever and much cleaner.

After the game the polo players enjoyed a banquet at Conrad and Abels. A number of prominent business men were the hosts.

Mansfield, O., March 3.—The Ashland league leaders were defeated 8 to 7 tonight by Mansfield before one of the largest crowds that have witnessed a game here this season. The game was fiercely contested from start to finish. Mansfield had a good lead at the close of the second period, but Ashland came strong and was leading by one goal in the final period, when they lost one goal through fouls. With the score a tie, Long drove the winning goal from the rush in three seconds' overtime. Mansfield put up great defense, Wallace's work in front of the cage being sensational.

The Sporting World.

The Harvester, at $9,000, comes next to having the high water figure at public auction for a practically unbroken youngster.

Manager McGraw of the New York Nationals declares that he will increase Fred Tenney's stolen base record of sixteen in 1907 to thirty-two in 1908.

Willie Keeler is said to be the wealthiest player in the national game. He is reported to be worth approximately $100,000 and $200,000. Most of his investments are in real estate in Brooklyn.

Joseph E. Widener of Philadelphia is sending his crack steeplechaser, El Chuchillo, to France to compete in the biggest event of the year. He figures that owing to the horse's success in America he would be handicapped out of all events over here.

The SPORTING WORLD

Baldwin's Dream is Realized.

E. J. ("Lucky") Baldwin's life dream has at last been realized. His new Santa Anita race track, recently opened at Los Angeles, has made a decided hit with the racing public, and its success is assured.

Sitting almost every afternoon in the judges' stand, a little gray haired man watches the races with interest, and whenever a record goes up no one is more enthusiastic. This man, whose face is seamed with the prints of time, is E. J. ("Lucky") Baldwin, a man whose name is synonymous of the golden west. In Santa Anita he sees the realization of his fondest hopes—the ownership of a model racing establishment—and is happy.

The track is located upon the enormous realty holdings which make Baldwin one of the greatest landowners in the United States. When the subject was broached to him, "Lucky" agreed. He had the land, and Barney Schreiber, George Rose and others had the money. All had the same idea. Within two weeks after the first shovel of earth was turned the bang tails were running at Santa Anita.

E. J. ("Lucky") BALDWIN.

"Lucky" Baldwin is one of the west's most picturesque characters. He is of the old regime, one of the few left from the days when men shot first and asked questions afterward, rode fast and fought hard.

Baldwin has been intimately associated with the turf for years. He has owned some of the finest thoroughbreds in the world, among them being Emperor of Norfolk, Rey El Santa Anita and Cruzados.

Swedes Studying Our Methods.

Bruno Soderstrom, the champion all around athlete of Sweden, who is now in America making a study of American athletics at the request and expense of the King of Sweden, had his first glimpse of an American gymnasium when he was shown all through that at Columbia university in New York. Mr. Soderstrom said that, though they make a specialty of gymnastics in Sweden, the completeness of the plant at Columbia was a revelation to him. The separate rooms for boxing, wrestling and fencing greatly pleased him, and especially was he attracted to the squad of varsity crew candidates who are getting an early workout under Coach Jim Rice on the rowing machines. Mr. Soderstrom said the swimming pool was the biggest he had ever seen. Columbia's athletic manager has extended the privileges of the Columbia gymnasium to Mr. Soderstrom while he is in this country, and Trainer Josh Crooks has also offered to tell him whatever he wants to know about American training methods.

Famous Stallion Sold For $125,000.

Clydene, the noted stallion, sire of Cicero, winner of the English Derby of 1905, has been sold for the sum of $125,000. The horse has been bought from W. Bass by the Ojo de Agua stud in the Argentine Republic, South America, where he will be taken next June after he fulfills his engagements at the home stud. Clydene is thirteen years of age, and while at the stud he has got some of the finest thoroughbreds of the English turf. In all his get have won 100 races, the amount in stakes being $271,285. As a two-year-old Clydene won the National Breeders' Produce stakes at Sandown of $25,000, carrying 131 pounds, and the Imperial Produce stakes at Kempton of $15,000. He is by Dona Vista, out of Arcadia, and was bred by C. D. Rose, who sold him in the fall of 1898 to Mr. Bass for $150,000.

Merkle Looks Good.

If Manager John McGraw can develop Merkle, his young first baseman, into a competent guardian of the second bag, it will be due wholly to the fact that Merkle is a natural ball player. When Lajoie came out of a little team in Fall River to play with the Philadelphia, he was a first baseman, but as he was also gifted with the unusual ability to play any position he soon developed into the great second baseman that he is today. Perhaps Merkle will prove another Lajoie. "The woods are full of great ball players," was the way Pop Anson put it in the old days. "But you've got to be able to tell one at first sight." McGraw thinks he has discovered the real article in the young man from Michigan.

A Stone With Roots.

The visitor to the Falkland Isles scattered here and there singular shaped blocks of what appear to be weather beaten and moss covered boulders in various sizes. Attempt to turn one of these boulders over, and you will meet with a real surprise, because the stone is actually anchored by roots of great strength. In fact, you will find that you are trifling with one of the native trees. No other country in the world has such a peculiar "forest" growth.

"Oh, That Tooth!"

There are no dentists in Korea. When an adult has the toothache, he is at liberty to pull the tooth or stand the ache, but when a child under twelve is thus afflicted the father and mother must give their written consent to have the tooth extracted, and three men must give their opinion in writing that they believe the patient will live through the operation. It thus takes two or three days, and by that time the ache may have stopped.

OBSTINATE ULCERS MAY LEAD TO CANCER

There is no difference, at first, in the appearance of a cancerous and a common ulcer, and for this reason every sore that is obstinate or slow in healing should excite suspicion, for the sore is nothing more than the external evidence of a polluted blood, and if allowed to remain may degenerate into Cancer. Efforts to heal the ulcer by means of salves, plasters and other external remedies always result in failure, because such treatment can have no possible effect on the blood, where the deadly germs and morbid matter form, and are carried through the circulation to the place. No sore or ulcer can exist without a predisposing internal cause, and the open, discharging ulcer or festering old sore will continue to eat deeper into the surrounding flesh as long as a polluted, germ-infected circulation discharges its impurities into it. S. S. S. goes to the fountain-head of the trouble, and drives out the germ-producing poisons and morbid impurities which keep the ulcer open. Then as this rich, purified blood goes to the diseased place the healing begins, all discharge ceases, the inflammation gradually leaves, new tissue and healthy flesh are formed, and soon the sore is permanently cured. S. S. S. is made entirely of roots and herbs of a healing, cleansing nature, and unlike mineral medicines, which often do great damage to the delicate parts of the system, S. S. S. tones up every part of the body. Book on Sores and Ulcers, and any medical advice desired free.

Dream Meanings.

To see a wax candle you will be present at some festivity.
If you climb a wall, you will see better days.
If you dream of being angry, you will have a pleasant surprise.

To pick apples, riches are in store for you.

To dream of picking violets means a new friend. If they wither, you will have sorrow.

Diamonds, if possessed, means illness. If worn, it is a good sign.

If you walk under a bridge, you will be safe from harm. To cross over, a friend will help you in a time of need.

Clear water is good to see. Frozen water means danger.

If you see Indians, you must avoid bad company.

To see a field of poppies means a pleasant future.

Green leaves, good health; falling or withered, good luck in business.

If you comb some one's hair, you will meet with ungrateful people.

You will have good luck if you see fish in clear water.

To see a flag floating on the breeze you will have honor and renown.

You will hear from an old friend if you see a sailor.

If you fall in the attempt to run, there are unfriendly people among your acquaintances.

Bookbinder.

This is a game much enjoyed by children and is played by any number, who sit in a circle, each holding a book laid flat on his clinched fists, which are held out in front of him.

One, who has been chosen bookbinder and stands in the middle of the circle, goes to any player and, seizing that player's book, attempts to rap his knuckles, which the holder of the book tries to avoid by pulling back his hands quickly. If the bookbinder succeeds in rapping the player's knuckles, the one rapped becomes bookbinder, and the first bookbinder takes his seat. Otherwise he replaces the book and tries with some one else.

The bookbinder may pretend to seize a book without actually doing so, and if the holder pulls away his hands so that the book falls he must take the leader's place just as if his knuckles had been rapped. The leader can make the game quite exciting if he runs quickly from one to another, pretending to take up one book and then seizing another, thus keeping the players constantly on the lookout.

Red Cap and Blue Cap.

The players seat themselves in a circle to represent tailors at work on a piece of cloth. A handkerchief or a duster will answer the purpose.

A leader, or foreman, is chosen, and every one of the company is named in turn Red Cap, Blue Cap, Black Cap, Yellow Cap, Brown Cap, etc. The leader then takes the piece of cloth and pretends to examine the work which is supposed to have been done by the workman.

He is supposed to discover a bad stitch and asks, "Who did it, Blue Cap?"

The latter immediately answers, "Not I, sir."

"Who then, sir?"

"Yellow Cap, sir."

Yellow Cap must then answer at once in the same manner and name another workman. Any one who fails to answer to his name pays a forfeit.

If carried on in a brisk manner, this game will cause endless amusement.
